GIVE THANKS.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving day, when all should attend church and offer prayers of praise and gratitude for the blessings God has bestowed on our country and people. May it be a peaceful and happy day for all.

WORTH TRIAL.

Shall we adopt street preaching as a method of diffusing a wider knowledge of Catholic teaching in this country? With the True Voice, we believe there can be nothing said against it except the difficulty of training the speakers. Even this could be overcome in a very short time. Over in England they have a regular organization of laymen for street preaching, and it is doing great work. Many who knew nothing of the Church of Christ before are now learning about it. We would not limit this work of street preaching to laymen. During the war many of our priests were on the lists of "Four Minute Men." They could do that work again for Christ as they did it for country.

WORK FIRST DUTY.

The world's greatest soldier has pleasantly surprised us Americans. He does not rattle the saber, but prefers to eulogize peace. Marshal Foch warned against becoming intoxicated with the allied victory. "War in itself and for itself is the greatest crime in the world, and the glory of victory pursued for itself is a crime," he said. "This world is made for peace and for work in peace time. The first duty is to work for our people, not to fight."

"Peace—We shall have it soon on the same condition we got victory in war. We must fight for it in the moral sphere as we did in the physical sphere. Peace has been promised from the first night of Christianity only to men of good will. Good will must be in the bottom of the heart; without it, it is only a sham peace."

CRAIG SLIPS.

Press dispatches from London indicate that British public opinion is "slipping away from Ulster" as represented by Craig's attitude of intransigence. Well, it must be remembered that Craig's attitude is due entirely to the support and encouragement which Orange intransigence has received from the British Government. Without British support Craig and his followers would soon subside. And if it be true that Carson and Lloyd George have decided to abandon Craig unless he submits to reason, a long step has been taken in the direction of settling the Irish question.

SENATOR FROM GEORGIA.

Some time ago a certain Senator from Georgia uttered malicious calumnies against the Catholic Church and her members. The same individual is now attacking the officers of the army and defaming American women who served as nurses along the battle fronts of France during the world war. In the course of a speech in the Senate charging that American soldiers in France were hanged and shot by American officers without trial or hearing, this Senator also impugned the character and chastity of the army nurses. This is what the Senator from Georgia said the other day:

"In the hospital they (the soldiers) were neglected. The officers made courtesans of too many of the nurses—not all of them, but too many of them."

The maximum number of American nurses with the American Expeditionary Force in France during the war was 10,066. All of these were recruited for the Government by the American Red Cross. All were graduate nurses, and in addition to undergoing examination to determine their ability and fitness, they had to give proof of good moral character. We believe that these reckless charges of the Senator from Georgia show very well the calibre of the man and the bent of his diseased mind. We found fault with many of our Catholic exchanges for advertising his calumnies when they were directed against us. We do not expect to have the same fault to find with the American Legion and those who speak for the army nurses. But we do expect that action will be taken to bring the Senator from Georgia to account for his reckless charges. He has touched upon a subject that Americans dislike to discuss in public. But they feel deeply about charges growing out of the war.

ACCEPT WITH STRING.

The Courier-Journal, commenting on the Washington Disarmament Conference on Wednesday, expressed itself in the following:

"Balfour for Great Britain and Kato for Japan accept 'in principle' the Hughes proposal for limitation of sea armament. When it comes to the application of that principle in the secret sessions of the conference and its committees which are yet ahead there will undoubtedly be some modifications of the programme as outlined by the American Secretary of State. Still that programme is so large that it will admit of modifications and yet leave a result of armament reduction well worth the calling of the conference. There is every reason to hope that with the impressive manifestation of public approval of the programme it will not be wrecked in modification."

It is to be hoped Secretary of State Hughes and his fellow representatives will stand firmly for the American declaration made at the opening session.

PROHIBITION.

It cost more than six millions of dollars last year to try to enforce the prohibition law and over seven millions have been appropriated for the same purpose this year. But the law is not being enforced. Lawbreakers import liquor and sell it, enriching themselves, even though paying fines; other lawbreakers buy and drink the liquor, but they are not punished even with a fine. All of us are taxed for millions to pay for enforcement, however. The law should be enforced or repealed.

DISTURBED.

Our neighbors, the Courier-Journal and Times, are much disturbed over the Democratic victory and reelection of Mayor Hyman. The voters gave Hyman a majority of over 400,000, and this they term "the Tammany mess." People of New York are awake to what is best for the metropolis. Their vote shows this. Wisely washy politicians will never defeat Tammany.

The Herald gets off a good one when it says Louisville sets a safety record when it goes a month without an auto fatality. But it passes the record made for autos stolen from the public streets and garages. As many as six have been reported in one day.

Do not forget the dead during these November days. It will not be long until you leave the things that are and take your place with them. If you wish to be remembered, remember now those who have preceded you.

A good recommendation for our Keystone police force slipped through the Herald this week, when it made known the fact that it took fifteen Keystoneers to arrest one drunken man. Some police force, sure enough.

The boys who put in time in the trenches do not take kindly to the sort of retrenchment that will deny them that bonus.

VETERAN CALLED.

Thomas Samuel Greenwell, ninety-eight years old, Civil War veteran and one of the last survivors of the Orphan Brigade, died Tuesday morning at his home, 909 South Third-second street. A native of Meade county, he came to Louisville as a youth. He enlisted in the army August 7, 1862, and a few days later he was captured. Mr. Greenwell then was brought to Louisville and held a prisoner in the old Galt House until he was returned to his regiment by an exchange of prisoners. He was captured a second time and he took the oath of allegiance, following his release at Washington, Ga., in 1865. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Sarah P. Greenwell; five sons, Robert, Eugene, Albie, Carl and J. H. Greenwell; and a daughter, Miss Lena Greenwell. Funeral services were held Thursday morning at Holy Cross church, Rev. Father Hill celebrating the requiem high mass.

H. A. J. PULS.

Arthur M. Wallace,
R. G. Fritts.

Our business has been very successful since I purchased the interest of H. A. J. Puls, April 1, 1915. At that time it was a very small business, doing under $300 business during the week ending April 10, 1915, but with hard work and sound business methods we have built up a wonderful trade, independent of any association or combine, and our business for the week ending April 9, 1921, has increased 500% over the business for the week of April 10, 1915. We have enlarged our place of business at 421 WEST CHESTNUT STREET, and on May 23, 1921, we purchased the plant and assets of the Economy Cleaning Co., which is one of the most up-to-date dry cleaning plants in the city.
